

WANTED

People with more citrus fruit than they know what to do with!

Do you know anyone who fits this description?

Tired of the mess your fruit trees leave in your yard?

Wish you had an easy way to remove the fruit before it falls on the ground and spoils?

We are looking for people who would like to donate their extra fruit to a worthy cause, without the hassle of picking the fruit themselves. Please contact David Byrd to discuss the possibilities. Students who are involved in community service credit could help provide fresh fruit to local food banks, local school employees who rarely get extra recognition, and service organizations. If we get a good response we can do good things all year round.
