

The Great American Teach-In

Polk County, Florida

On Thursday, November 16th, community members will visit schools across the District to share how school helped them achieve success, as Polk County Public Schools celebrates the Great American Teach-In. The annual event is held nationwide each year to celebrate American Education Week.

It is an opportunity to show students where education can take you but it is also a great way for visitors to appreciate what teachers do. Connecting classrooms to community builds trust and transparency.
